

CALL FOR PAPERS

Have you written a paper or performed research that you want to share with your fellow students?

The Linguistics Student Association at California State University, Fullerton is looking for student presenters of any topics related to linguistics, languages, or language development for our 21st Annual Linguistics Symposium.

Recent student presentation titles include:

Bajan: A Barbadian Creole

Case Assignment in Basque Causatives

The Chinese Orthographic System

Contrastive Focus and Question Formation in Rohingya and Mandarin

Jamaican Creole Plurals

The Linguistic Process of Bound Clip Compound Formation in English

Music and Language

Passive Voice in Vietnamese

Pragmatics and American-born Native Arabic Speakers in the Middle East

Quantification and Specificity in Persian

Steps to Toddler Foreign Language Acquisition: Methodology and Practice

The Use of Information Technology in Teaching Translation

Who Are You Guys?: A Sociolinguistic Analysis of Changes in Progress for Guy and You Guys

details

Symposium Date: April 9, 2012

Location: CSUF Titan Theater (located in the TSU)

Abstract Length: 150-250 words

Abstract Due Date: February 28, 2012

Submit the Abstract: skngjul@csu.fullerton.edu

ON CAMPUS
POSTING APPROVED UNTIL
MARCH 03, 2012
SARC
DEAN OF STUDENTS OFFICE
CAL STATE FULLERTON