Ray Padilla Mendoz: Computational Linguistics in Industry

Computational Linguistics is a very popular field crucial to the advancement of Artificial Intelligence (AI). Ever increasingly intelligent computer systems which can understand and process human language and interact with humans is changing our world in ways unimaginable. In this talk, we'll go over industry trends over the past twenty years, bridge the gap between linguistics and AI through example applications, and talk about future trends.